Studio Potter & Project Art Invite You to
Hops+Pots:

A Celebration of Western Mass Ceramic Arts
at 54 Main Street, Cummington, MA 01026

Saturday, July 28, 2018; 6-8:30 p.m.

Hilltowns, Western Mass. Hops+Pots — Studio Potter and Project Art invite you to Hops+Pots: A Celebration of Western Mass Ceramic Arts. The second annual celebration of ceramics coincides with the Hilltown6 Pottery Tour weekend, and will benefit the local non-profit arts organization, Studio Potter. The evening will showcase local ceramics, food, beverages, and music along the idyllic banks of the Westfield River, at Project Art in Cummington, Massachusetts.

Hops+Pots connects artists and the public to the craft beer movement by showcasing the ties between local food, craft beer, and ceramics. Through the intersection of pottery, food, and drink, we want Hops+Pots to spark investment in handmade objects among a group of people who share a deliciously common interest. The enjoyment of food and drink can be greatly enriched by the experience of using the beautiful work artists so thoughtfully produce.

Attendees will be entered in a raffle to win Hilltown6 pottery and event goodies, enjoy a free tasting from Ooma Tesoro's, and a free pint (21+) of their choice from Wandering Star Craft Brewery. Enjoy meeting Hilltown6 artists, interact with Project Art resident artists, browse jugs, mugs, tumblers and beer growlers from GrowlerFest, and view artwork from Ferrin Contemporary. Also, take home a free copy of Studio Potter journal's brand-new issue on "Education" hot of the press! This is a family-friendly event, all ages are welcome. Advance tickets are $20; $25 at the door; children aged 12 and under are free.

We are hoping you will join us in the discussion surrounding local food, craft beer, and the role that ceramics continues to play in the enrichment of those movements.
